

UMBILICAL STORAGE AND DEPLOYMENT REELS

We supply a range of hydraulic and pneumatic reels that are suited to the storage and deployment of umbilicals. Typically these can be used for small hydraulic umbilicals to provide power to our range of small tools. We can supply reels complete with umbilicals at customer's request.

All units are suitable for onshore and offshore use and a selection of our standard range together with their specifications are given here.

In addition to the range of reels available in our hire fleet, we can also design and build purpose made reels to hire or buy, which are tailored to suit a customer's individual specifications. We will be pleased to quote against your particular requirements.

All of our reels are provided with full certification package in accordance with current legislations.
